CITY APPLIES FOR 80 PCT. GRANT TO BUILD WATER PLANT, NEW LINES

Emergency Grant Would Take Care Of Hosp. School Needs

The City of West Liberty Monday filed an official application for a $600,000 emergency Economic Development Administration (EDA) grant with which to build a new water purification plant and extend water lines to serve the new West Liberty Hospital now building and the proposed Morgan County High School at Index set for construction next year.

If approved, the grant will represent 80 percent of the total cost of the project which is estimated at $750,000.

E. V. Tredway, local engineer whose firm completed field work on the project last week, said that complete plans and specifications for the new municipal facilities accompanied the application which was made to the area EDA office in Huntington.

Plans and specifications were prepared by Spaulding Engineering of Hazard.

Grant money is available from a special public works fund set aside earlier by President Nixon to finance projects of dire need. However, the town's application must win approval by EDA officials within 30 days to qualify for the grant.

If approved, work on a new water filtration plant on the east side of Licking River at Twenty-Two Hollow and new water lines will begin by Feb. 15.

Plans call for a 10-inch line from the new water plant downstream to the junction of US-460 and the Wells Hill road; from there 8-inch lines will run to the hospital on Wells Hill and to the new school site at Index.

West Liberty earlier had filed application to EDA for a 100 percent grant totaling $2,440,000 with which to construct the new water plant, complete new water lines, and also a new sewage disposal plant and an extension of sewage lines.

If approved, the 80 percent emergency grant to build the water plant and lines, would be deleted from the earlier application for a 100 percent grant.

SIGNS PRESENTED MRS. BLAIR AND PLACED AT ROADSIDE PARK

Mrs. Boyd Blair, president of the West Liberty Garden Club when a roadside park was developed on US-460 west of town under the club's sponsorship, was presented signs last Thursday to be placed at the park designating West Liberty a winner in this year's Northeast Kentucky Rural Community Development Association contest.

West Liberty was third place winner in the village category of the contest, which was sponsored by the Second National Bank of Ashland, the Kentucky Power Co. and the Ashland Area Chamber of Commerce.

Announcement of contest winners was made July 10 at an Ashland dinner meeting. Touring award winning communities in a 12-county area to present plaques to winners, including first place winners, Thelma, Flatgap and Salyersville, were:

John C. C. Mayo, chairman of the board, Second National Bank; O. C. Hall, executive assistant of Kentucky Power Co.; Ken Franks, Boyd County area extension agent; Gene Ball, area specialist in resource development; Bill Schweitzer, secretary of Northeast Kentucky Rural Development Association and Lou Pilst, secretary of Ashland Area Chamber of Commerce, all of Ashland.

Others were: Dave Lang, Kentucky Power Co., Paintsville; Prichard King, of Salyersville and Tim Bostick, president of Salyersville Community Development Club and editor of the Salyersville Independent.

Others from the local area participating in the presentation ceremony were State Rep. Joe W. Haney, John Oldfield Jr., and County Extension Agent Doug Howard.

Thursday's tour began with Davies Run in Carter County and ended in West Liberty.

Young Easterling was rushed to Campion Medical Clinic for first aid and on to UK Medical Center, Lexington, where he remains in a serious condition.

Morgan Ambulance Service driver James Johnson said the youth suffered severe injuries to his face and eyes, his arms and hands, legs, and stomach.

The accident occurred at the Easterling home, but no details were available on what caused the cap to explode.

STATE POLICE ALERT ISSUED TO LOCAL CITIZENS

With tobacco stripping time here again, Detective Alonzo Hensley of the Kentucky State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation this week issued a bulletin asking residents to watch for persons, particularly strangers, who come into a stripping room asking for people who do not live in the community or people asking any questions out of the ordinary.

If any suspicious persons are noticed, local citizens are encouraged to record all available information on the persons, their car, etc., and notify the State Police.

Detective Hensley also advised farmers to mark their tobacco. One way is to place their initials on several inside hands of tobacco so they can claim their tobacco and identify it in the event the tobacco is later stolen.

Law enforcement officers recommend that after stripping, farmers take precautions to protect their crops, such as locking doors and securing gates to make tobacco inaccessible to would-be-thieves.

Burglaries Noted
Referring to several unsolved burglaries which have occurred in Morgan County during the past few days, Detective Hensley stated: "If people would observe and notify authorities of strange cars or strange-acting persons in their neighborhoods and mark their property, we could all benefit."

Detective Hensley said citizens should make "an all-out effort to record and file in the home a list of all serial numbered items in the home; radios, TV's, stereos, chain saws, guns.

These numbers should be kept handy, Hensley said. "In case there is a theft, they can help the police in the recovery of your property."

A Note Of Thanks On Eve Of Rhonda's Eighth Operation
The Rhonda McKenzie family would like to thank everyone who contributed in any way to the Rhonda McKenzie Fund. Not only for the financial assistance which relieved a great burden, but also for the kindness, prayers, and many offers to help in some way.

Rhonda and her parents returned to the University of Virginia Hospital this week where she will undergo her eighth operation, today (Thursday). This is to be the beginning of shaping the nose which will require several operations.

A special thanks to all of you for your part in making Rhonda's fight for a normal life somewhat easier.

BURGLARIES CONTINUE HERE; TWO LAST WEEK

Another in a series of unsolved break-ins in West Liberty and surrounding areas in recent weeks was discovered last Friday when four fire-arms were discovered hidden on the roof of the McClain Building on Main Street.

Following discovery of the guns and a quantity of ammunition, it was learned that they had been taken from an upstairs room in the building by burglars who climbed a fire escape at the rear of the building and broke open a third floor door.

The guns and ammunition, belonging to Rex Maxey, one of the building's owners, were taken from a locked room on the third floor.

The guns were discovered by a visitor to the county health office located on the second floor of a neighboring building who glanced through a window and noticed a rifle stock protruding over the top of the McClain Building.

Later the same week, thieves again entered the McClain Building, according to reports, but it is unknown at this time what, if anything, was taken.

Only a few days earlier, burglars entered the office of The Licking Valley Courier, located in the same building, and stole a money box. That same night, burglars raided Henry Fabric Shop and the Morgan County Health Department.

In preceding weeks, burglars have entered grocery stores, service stations, garages, and private buildings.

MAN SHOT AT ADELE TUESDAY SAID CRITICAL

Tommy Whitaker, 22, said to be a native of California, was shot and critically wounded about 3 a.m. Tuesday at Adele, according to Morgan County Sheriff James Brooks.

The incident occurred at a residence occupied by the wounded man and owned by Bobby Perkins of Grassy Creek, according to Sheriff Brooks.

A Wolfe County man, Edison Dykes, 47, of near Helechawa was arrested at the scene and charged with public drunkenness, Sheriff Brooks said.

However, no other charges were placed, pending further investigation.

Sheriff Brooks said Dykes was lodged in the Morgan County jail and later released.

According to Sheriff Brooks, he received a call from a passing motorist who told him that a man, apparently shot, was lying on the highway (KY-191) at Adele.

Brooks said when he arrived on the scene the wounded man was in the house with Dykes. The sheriff said he confiscated two pistols, a .38 and a .32 from Dykes. No one else was at the scene, he said.

Morgan Ambulance Service, which took Whitaker to St. Claire Medical Center, Morehead, reported the man was in critical condition upon arrival at the hospital.

Whitaker was shot at least once, the bullet entering the shoulder, and piercing his body, according to a spokesman for the ambulance service.

The wounded man later was transferred to UK Medical Center, Lexington.

Paul Motley of the ambulance service and Sheriff Brooks said Whitaker listed the names of no relatives in this area.

Wendell Ford Wins For Governor As Democrats Sweep All Offices

FORD CARRIES 6 OF 7 DISTRICTS IN NOV 2 VOTING

Carroll's Majority Of 105,000 Is Twice Ford's 59,415 Margin

FRANKFORT, KY. — Democratic Lieut. Gov. Wendell Ford polled a majority of nearly 60,000 over Republican Tom Emberton to win the governorship from Reps. and the Democrats regained control of all statewide offices in Tuesday's general election.

With all but 23 precincts tabulated, Ford had 466,656 votes to Emberton's 407,241, for a majority of 59,415.

But even more impressive was the majority of Democrat House Speaker Julian Carroll who rolled up a majority of 105,000 for Lieutenant Governor over his Republican opponent James Host, a native of Ashland. Carroll was Bert Combs' running mate in the May primary. He won the nomination for Lieutenant Governor and Combs lost for Governor.

Democrats also won the other seven state office posts.

Four of the seven are familiar faces, but three are new in state posts.

Dr. Lyman Ginger, associate dean of education at the University of Kentucky, was elected State Superintendent, defeating Miss Jewell Hamilton, a former aide to Gov. Nunn.

Ed Hancock defeated Republican Edwin Schoering, Commonwealth Attorney in Jefferson county, for Attorney General.

Miss Frances Jones Mills of Knox county, defeated Doug Mosely, Republican, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Miss Mills had served one term as State Representative, the first (Continued on page five)

Morgan County Democratic Campaign Chairwoman Sandra McKenzie and Chairman Winfred Howard give victory shake at Democrat Headquarters following the Democrats' sweep of all precincts in the county in Tuesday's general election. A joint statement by the campaign leaders to voters and campaign workers appears below.

DEMOCRAT CAMPAIGN LEADERS THANK MORGAN VOTERS

We would like to thank the men, women, and young people who participated in any way to make possible your victory for the Democrat Party.

Thanks especially for the help in making our fish fry the largest single county rally ever to come to Morgan County.

Thanks also for a great festival and to the ones who helped in making our floats.

So many have participated that it would be impossible to list each one by name.

Thanks to those who worked in our headquarters and the committeemen and committeewomen who helped to register voters, send absentee applications, and those who attended our meetings when called on short notice.

The real credit for this victory, however, belongs to the good, moral, upright citizens who considered the issues involved and made their choice to elect Wendell Ford as Governor of Kentucky.

We thank you — the great Democrats — for a tremendous victory.

WALNUTS MEAN EXTRA INCOME

Hulled walnuts piled at Wrigley ready for shipment.

Gay Whitt operates automatic huller while Addison Manley of Dingus unloads load of walnuts he gathered.

Walnuts meant added income to several Morgan County citizens this year. Answering an advertisement in this paper, local residents have gathered and sold more than 30 tons of walnuts. The Wrigley firm, which recently acquired a machine to remove the outer hulls from walnuts automatically, pays $4.00 per hundred pounds of the hulled nuts. The walnuts are then trucked to a firm in Arkansas which prepares the kernels for sale and also utilizes the hard outer shell.

WRECK INJURIES FATAL TO ROWAN CO. BUSINESSMAN

Kenneth E. Lewis, 63, of Morehead prominent Morehead businessman and extensive owner of real estate, died Friday in a Texas hospital from multiple injuries sustained in a Sept. 24 automobile accident. Mr. Lewis sustained the fatal injuries when a car in which he was a passenger collided with a stray or wild horse near Harlingen, Texas, a small community close to the Mexican border.

Mr. Lewis was born in Rowan County Jan. 1, 1908, and lived here all his life. He was the son of the late John A. Lewis, former Rowan County Tax Commissioner, and Sarah Alice (Adams) Lewis, also deceased. He married the former Roxie Fultz, who survives.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my loving mother, Mrs. Carrie Keeton, who passed away Oct. 30, 1970—

Your gentle face and patient smile with sadness we recall. You had a kindly word for each and die beloved by all.

The voice is mute and stilled the heart that loved us well and true. Ah, bitter was the trial to part from one so good as you.

You are not forgotten loved one nor will you ever be. As long as life and memory last we will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore as time goes on we miss you more. Your loving smile your gentle face no one can fill your vacant place.

Even the smartest individual has much to learn; and the smarter they get, the more they realize the fact.

TOBACCO TALKS

In Kentucky, tobacco talks in terms that are clear and impressive. It says jobs—as some 240,000 Kentucky families depend on tobacco for a livelihood. It says income—as more than $300 million is derived from tobacco annually by Kentucky farmers, and the crop generates an estimated $1.5 billion within our total economy. It says prosperity—as tobacco, being Kentucky's leading cash crop, provides the foundation for economic growth and development.

Kentucky's burley tobacco farmers believe tobacco has a lot going for it, and are letting the product speak for itself. Are you listening?

NORTHEAST AREA COUNCIL OPENS WOODWORK SHOP WITH 5 TRAINEES

WITH 5 TRAINEES 2-24 Northeast Kentucky Area Development Council, Inc., has recently opened a wood-working shop and five trainees are learning to manufacture furniture.

Last week, Mr. Lennie M. Click, President of the Council, and Mr. Gene Binnion, Executive Director, were in the Regional OEO Office in Atlanta, Georgia, to present Regional officials with the first couch manufactured by the trainees.

The woodworking shop is sponsored by an Incentive Grant which Northeast received from the Regional OEO Office in July for the purpose of developing small economic projects aimed at benefiting low-income persons at the community level.

Mr. Click made the presentation to Mr. Roy Batchelor, Regional Director, and they discussed the benefits involved in such programs with

Mr. Click pointing out that 12 low-income persons have been trained as upholsters by Northeast; and five persons are presently being trained as craftsmen in the woodworking shop.

In addition to assistance through the Regional OEO Office, Mr. Click mentioned that his Agency had also received help from two U. S. Department of Labor projects during the initial training phase.

Present plans are to keep the couch on display in the Regional Office for two or three months so that other groups and agencies throughout the Southeast Region may see some of the positive results of the Incentive Program.

Officials of Northeast are presently discussing methods of marketing the furniture. At this time, they have one retail outlet located in Morehead.

DDT BAN DELAYED

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) last week rejected another bid for an immediate ban on the use of DDT but said it would rule on the pesticide's fate by March. The agency had decided last March to let DDT use continue after it had been banned as dangerous to humans and animals because it remains potent for years and accumulates. However Federal courts asked EPA to reconsider its decision and to answer by Nov. 1, taking into consideration a new report by a scientific advisory committee. The EPA said last week the committee's findings supported its decision by suggesting that an abrupt ban might force premature use of more hazardous pesticides. Primary argument against DDT is that it remains potent for years, washes from farmland into streams, hurts wildlife and may cause genetic damage to humans.

Ajax Manufacturing Corp. of Warren, Ohio manufacturers of induction heating and melting furnaces, announced last week it had picked Richmond, Ky., as the site for its new factory, and said the plant would employ 200 workers.

OBSERVATIONS AND PREDICTIONS

THE FAMILY FARM — An Elizabethtown surgeon, Dr. Louis Aaron told the National Farmers Organization at its Kentucky meeting that family farming is in danger of extinction. He declared that if family farming crumbles, the nation will be weakened, and added that better prices and reasonable profits would help save the family size farm. The well known surgeon also said there are "too many competing farm organizations," adding that NFO is the only arm organization "that has any chance of keeping young people on the farm."

ENIGMA — The Morehead News in its Oct. 28 edition reported that one-third of Rowan county's residents receive some form of government aid or welfare. And on another page the News reported that a recent survey showed that Rowan county's population has 105 autos for each 100 people.

HAIRSEED FARMER — Yes, one after another sounded out before the election all of which gives us great respect for the sagacity of an old farmer who was approached by a TV interviewer soon after he got to town with his tobacco. With mike in hand, the interviewer was getting the opinion of the average man on the street concerning the controversial issues of the times.

"What do you think of the bill of rights," asked the newscaster. The farmer answered, with hands firmly holding the straps of his overalls, "I think it we owe it we ought to pay it." Dropping that subject and going on the newscaster then asked, "What about Red China?" The farmer smiled and said, "My wife might think it would look good on a purple tablecloth." Finally, the farmer, feeling more intelligent than ever, was asked, "Well, what is your opinion about LSD?" Looking straight into the mike, he replied, "If he decides to run again, I think we ought to elect him."

SNOW IN KENTUCKY — Last year the earliest snowfall in Kentucky was on Nov. 4 when 1 inch of snow fell in the southern Bluegrass region and on that date high up in the Cumberland mountains in Bell county the settlement of Hensley reported 5 inches of snow on the ground. But the chances of snow in early November are remote. The Kentucky climatologist for the Weather Bureau reports that average date for first snowfalls in Eastern Kentucky is Nov. 24 and in the Bluegrass average date for the first snowfall is early December.

BOONESBORO FORT — Kentucky will be celebrating its bicentennial in 1974. And by that time Daniel Boone's Fort Boonesboro will be reconstructed in its original size and shape under a $1,700,000 project to be financed jointly by the Kentucky Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, the Appalachian Regional Commission and Kentucky Department of Parks. The project calls for acquisition of additional land, restoration of the original fort, also expanding the camping area and picnic facilities at Boonesboro Park. BOONE PARKWAY OPEN — The Manchester to London sector (21 miles) of the Daniel Boone Parkway was officially opened at ceremonies in Manchester Oct. 28 by Gov. Nunn. This 21-mile sector cost $22 million. When completed the Boone Parkway will extend from London to Hazard, a 65-mile mountain parkway that will cost $128 million. Gov. Nunn in opening the 21-mile sector said, "This corridor of opportunity will bring tourist and tourists money, and also it will bring industry." The new road will be a boost to isolated Clay county and Manchester. At London the Boone Parkway will connect with I-75, the north-south Interstate.

EAST KENTUCKIAN — Alvin J. Arnett, native of Salsberyville last week was named executive director of the Appalachian Regional Commission to succeed Ralph Widner, resigned, formerly was executive assistant in the office of U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall (R-Maryland). Before going to work for Senator Beall he was special assistant to former Co-Chairman John B. Waters, Jr. and previous to that had been on the staff woman legislator from Knox county.

In other races, Thelma Stovall, Democrat, was elected to her third term as Secretary of State, defeating Republican Ken Harper.

Wendell Butler, present State Superintendent, won for Commissioner of Agriculture, defeating Ben Allen Burns, a Republican from Davies county. Mary Louise Foust of Shelbyville, Democrat was elected to her third term as State Auditor, defeating Robert Miller, the present Republican Commissioner of Agriculture.

Drexel Davis of Frankfort won for State Treasurer, defeating Republican Dick Vermillion, the present clerk, by a vote of 396,939 to 314,607, with nearly 200 precincts yet to tabulate. Davis is a native of Morgan county.

Emberton, who was Gov. Nunn's hand-picked candidate for Governor, conceded defeat before midnight Tuesday, and pledged his support to the new state officials.

Ford, the 47-year-old Governor-elect, made a victory statement soon after Emberton conceded, and declared the sweeping Democrat victory "is an indication of what's to come." He had campaigned strongly against the Nunn and Nixon administrations, blaming them for the recession, and predicted the nation will follow Kentucky's pattern in next year's presidential race.

Former Gov. A. B. Chandler ran a poor third in his third bid for the governorship, and declared at 73 that it was his last time to seek public office. He had proposed the repeal of the sales tax on food, and both Emberton and Ford eventually endorsed the proposal.

MAN IS REMOVED FROM JAIL AFTER CUTTING WRISTS

Junior Lee Barker, 26, of Stacy Fork, who was indicted at the October term of Morgan Circuit Court on a charge of raping his 9-year-old step-daughter early last month, was removed from the jail here last Friday to Clark County jail in Winchester for safekeeping following two suicide attempts.

Morgan County Jailor Clarence Litteral said Barker on two separate occasions attempted suicide by slashing his wrists with pieces of razor blades. Litteral said he does not know how Barker obtained the blades.

Litteral said that two days prior to Barker's removal to Winchester, the prisoner slashed his wrists deeply and Litteral and other officials were forced to subdue Barker in order to stop the bleeding. The wounds required stitches by a local doctor.

Barker, whose trial is set for the next term of circuit court, is in jail after being unable to post $20,000 bond. He was removed to the Winchester jail on an order by County Judge Gene Allen.

SUMMER PAST

I looked into the woods and saw a flame
Not of fire but golden leaves
I love the autumn days, but for summer past
My heart grieves.

I looked into the woods and gave a sigh
Oh so soon the summer has passed us by
So many things planned have gone undone
Like being with you more in summer sun.

Soon the frost will sparkle on the hill
Coldness of the winter my heart will fill
But knowing that you care will warm the chill.

And leave me moving thoughts while winter's still.

Plaques on Parkway at Campton Will Honor Ex-Gov. Bert Combs

Ceremonies Set At Campton For November 16th

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Gov. Louie B. Nunn announced last week that plaques honoring former Gov. Bert T. Combs will be erected along the Mountain Parkway during ceremonies Nov. 16.

Nunn and Combs will place a plaque at the Campton Toll Plaza at ceremonies at 11 a.m.

The plaque, weighing approximately 200 pounds and measuring about 20 square feet, features a sculptured bronze base relief of Combs. Friends of Combs raised funds and commissioned the sculpture and the State Highway Department designed the plaque.

The parkway was built when Combs, a Democrat was governor from 1959 to 1963. Part of the inscription on the plaque reads: "A man of the mountains, knowing his neighbors' needs, dreamed of a splendid, modern highway linking the eastern mountains of the Commonwealth and the Bluegrass. As governor, Bert Combs made a dream a reality."

Combs, asked for comment, said, "I'm grateful for a kind word from anybody these days but the plaque dedi-

WITH 2 EXCEPTIONS, NO HUNTING OF ANY SPECIES ALLOWED NOV. 1-17

FRANKFORT, KY., Oct. 22 — A period of 17 days, the first 17 of November, has been declared a time of no hunting for furbearers or unprotected wildlife, with two exceptions, Arnold Mitchell, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, reminded today.

The exceptions — the five day gun deer season which opens November 13 and extends through November 17, and the first three days of the statewide roose hunting season which opens November 15. During these designated periods, deer and geese may be hunted in their respective seasons.

Mitchell pointed out, but no other wildlife may be hunted. Reason for this, Mitchell said, is to help conservation officers eliminate pre-season rabbit, quail, squirrel, and grouse hunting. These legal seasons all open on the third Thursday in November which is the 18th this year.

The no hunting ban is a continuation of a policy set up several years ago. By outlawing hunting for all species except those designated, the law enforcement officer has a good case when a person is apprehended in the fields or on the streams with a hunting rifle or shotgun in his possession.

Prior to the invoking of this regulation, illegal hunters had posed as crow or groundhog hunters in the few days before the legal season opening and unless they actually had game in their possession, they could make their pleas stick in the courts. This eliminates the loophole, Mitchell said, in alerting hunters to stay out of the fields on the first 17 days of November.

"The governor knows that I am a Democrat and I am supporting the Democratic ticket and that is why the ceremony has been scheduled for a time after the November election."

NORTHEAST AREA COUNCIL OPENS WOODWORK SHOP WITH 5 TRAINEES

WITH 5 TRAINEES 2-24 Northeast Kentucky Area Development Council, Inc., has recently opened a wood-working shop and five trainees are learning to manufacture furniture.

Last week, Mr. Lonnie M. Click, President of the Council, and Mr. Gene Bion, Executive Director, were in the Regional OEO Office in Atlanta, Georgia, to present Regional officials with the first couch manufactured by the trainees.

The woodworking shop is sponsored by an Incentive Grant which Northeast received from the Regional OEO Office in July for the purpose of developing small economic projects aimed at benefiting low-income persons at the community level.

Mr. Click made the presentation to Mr. Roy Batchelor, Regional Director, and they discussed the benefits involved in such programs with

Mr. Click pointing out that 12 low-income persons have been trained as upholsters by Northeast; and five persons are presently being trained as craftsmen in the woodworking shop.

In addition to assistance through the Regional OEO Office, Mr. Click mentioned that his Agency had also received help from two U. S. Department of Labor projects during the initial training phase.

Present plans are to keep the couch on display in the Regional Office for two or three months so that other groups and agencies throughout the Southeast Region may see some of the positive results of the Incentive Program.

Officials of Northeast are presently discussing methods of marketing the furniture. At this time, they have one retail outlet located in Morehead.

DDT BAN DELAYED

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) last week rejected another bid for an immediate ban on the use of DDT but said it would rule on the pesticide's fate by March. The agency had decided last March to let DDT use continue after it had been banned as dangerous to humans and animals because it remains potent for years and accumulates. However Federal courts asked EPA to reconsider its decision and to answer by Nov. 1, taking into consideration a new report by a scientific advisory committee. The EPA said last week the committee's findings supported its decision by suggesting that an abrupt ban might force premature use of more hazardous pesticides. Primary argument against DDT is that it remains potent for years, washes from farmland into streams, hurts wildlife and may cause genetic damage to humans.

Ajax Manufacturing Corp. of Warren, Ohio manufacturers of injection heating and melting furnaces, announced last week it had picked Richmond, Ky., as the site for its new factory, and said the plant would employ 200 workers.

OBSERVATIONS AND PREDICTIONS

THE FAMILY FARM — An Elizabethtown surgeon, Dr. Louis Aaron told the National Farmers Organization at its Kentucky meeting that family farming is in danger of extinction. He declared that if family farming crumbles, the nation will be weakened, and added that better prices and reasonable profits would help save the family size farm. The well known surgeon also said there are "too many competing farm organizations," adding that NFO is the only arm organization "that has any chance of keeping young people on the farm."

ENIGMA — The Morehead News in its Oct. 28 edition reported that one-third of Rowan county's residents receive some form of government aid or welfare. And on another page the News reported that a recent survey showed that Rowan county's population has 105 autos for each 100 people.

HAYSEED FARMER — Yes, one after another sounded us out before the election all of which gives us great respect for the sagacity of an old farmer who was approached by a TV interviewer soon after he got to town with his tobacco. With Mike in hand, the interviewer was getting the opinion of the average man on the street concerning the controversial issues of the times.

"What do you think of the bill of rights," asked the newscaster. The farmer answered, with hands firmly holding the straps of his overalls, "I think if we owe it we ought to pay it." Dropping that subject and going on the newscaster then asked, "What about Red China?" The farmer smiled and said, "My wife might think it would look good on a purple tablecloth." Finally, the farmer, feeling more intelligent than ever, was asked, "Well, what is your opinion about LSD." Looking straight into the mike, he replied, "If he decides to run again, I think we ought to elect him."

SNOW IN KENTUCKY — Last year the earliest snowfall in Kentucky was on Nov. 4 when 1 inch of snow fell in the southern Bluegrass region and on that date high up in the Cumberland mountains in Bell county the settlement of Hensley reported 5 inches of snow on the ground. But the chances of snow in early November are remote. The Kentucky climatologist for the Weather Bureau reports that average date for first snowfalls in Eastern Kentucky is Nov. 24 and in the Bluegrass average date for the first snowfall is early December.

BOONESBORO PORT — Kentucky will be celebrating its bicentennial in 1974. And by that time Daniel Boone's Port Boonesboro will be reconstructed in its original size and shape under a $1,700,000 project to be financed jointly by the Kentucky Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, the Appalachian Regional Commission and Kentucky Department of Parks. The project calls for acquisition of additional land, restoration of the original fort, also expanding the camping area and picnic facilities at Boonesboro Park. Boone built his fort on the banks of the Kentucky River nine miles below the mouth of Red River. It is a popular tourist attraction, and when the fort is reconstructed it will be widely visited. Gov. Nunn last week said plans for rebuilding the fort to its original size already are on the drawing board.

BOONE PARKWAY OPEN — The Manchester to London sector (21 miles) of the Daniel Boone Parkway was officially opened at ceremonies in Manchester Oct. 28 by Gov. Nunn. This 21-mile sector cost $22 million. When completed the Boone Parkway will extend from London to Hazard, a 65-mile mountain parkway that will cost $128 million. Gov. Nunn in opening the 21-mile sector said, "This corridor of opportunity will bring tourist and tourists money, and also it will bring industry." The new road will be a boost to isolated Clay county and Manchester. At London the Boone Parkway will connect with I-75, the north-south Interstate.

EAST KENTUCKIAN — Alvin J. Arnett, native of Salsberyville who last week was named executive director of the Appalachian Regional Commission to succeed Ralph Widner, resigned, formerly was executive assistant in the office of U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall (R-Maryland). Before going to work for Senator Beall he was special assistant to former Co-Chairman John B. Waters, Jr. and previous to that had been on the staff of the Appalachian Regional Commission.

PARK ASSOCIATION — The Natural Bridge State Park Association will hold its annual meeting and banquet Nov. 12 at Hemlock Lodge at Natural Bridge Park, Judge J. Douglas Graham, president, will preside. The association was formed 25 years ago to promote Natural Bridge as a park.

He had campaigned strongly against the Nunn and Nixon administrations, blaming them for the recession, and predicted the nation will follow Kentucky's pattern in next year's presidential race.

Former Gov. A. B. Chandler ran a poor third in his third bid for the governorship, and declared at 73 that it was his last time to seek public office. He had proposed the repeal of the sales tax on food, and both Emberton and Ford eventually endorsed the proposal.

Both Ford and Emberton said they would enact a severance tax on coal, but Chandler had opposed the tax in his campaigning.

MAN IS REMOVED FROM JAIL AFTER CUTTING WRISTS

Junior Lee Barker, 26, of Stacy Fork, who was indicted at the October term of Morgan Circuit Court on a charge of raping his 9-year-old step-daughter early last month, was removed from the jail here last Friday to Clark County jail in Winchester for safekeeping following two suicide attempts.

Morgan County Jailor Clarence Litteral said Barker on two separate occasions attempted suicide by slashing his wrists with pieces of razor blades. Litteral said he does not know how Barker obtained the blades.

Litteral said that two days prior to Barker's removal to Winchester, the prisoner slashed his wrists deeply and Litteral and other officials were forced to subdue Barker in order to stop the bleeding. The wounds required stitches by a local doctor.

Barker, whose trial is set for the next term of circuit court, is in jail after being unable to post $20,000 bond. He was removed to the Winchester jail on an order by County Judge Gene Allen.

SUMMER PAST

I looked into the woods and saw a flame
Not of fire but golden leaves
I love the autumn days, but for summer past
My heart grieves.

I looked into the woods and gave a sigh
Oh so soon the summer has passed us by
So many things planned have gone undone
Like being with you more in summer sun.

Soon the frost will sparkle on the hill
Coldness of the winter my heart will fill
But knowing that you care will warm the chill,
And leave me moving thoughts while winter's still.

PLAQUE ON PARKWAY AT CAMPTON WILL HONOR EX-GOV. BERT COMBS

Ceremonies Set At Campton For November 16th

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Gov. Louie B. Nunn announced last week that plaques honoring former Gov. Bert T. Combs will be erected along the Mountain Parkway during ceremonies Nov. 16.

Nunn and Combs will place a plaque at the Campton Toll Plaza at ceremonies at 11 a.m.

The plaque, weighing approximately 200 pounds and measuring about 20 square feet, features a sculptured bronze base relief of Combs. Friends of Combs raised funds and commissioned the sculpture and the State Highway Department designed the plaque.

The parkway was built when Combs, a Democrat was governor from 1959 to 1963. Part of the inscription on the plaque reads: "A man of the mountains, knowing his neighbors' needs, dreamed of a splendid, modern highway linking the eastern mountains of the Commonwealth and the Bluegrass. As governor, Bert Combs made a dream a reality."

Combs, asked for comment, said, "I'm grateful for a kind word from anybody these days but the plaque dedi-

WITH 2 EXCEPTIONS, NO HUNTING OF ANY SPECIES ALLOWED NOV. 1-17

FRANKFORT, KY., Oct. 22 — A period of 17 days, the first 17 of November, has been declared a time of no hunting for either protected or unprotected wildlife, with two exceptions, Arnold Mitchell, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, reminded today.

The exceptions — the five day gun deer season which opens November 13 and extends through November 17, and the first three days of the statewide goose hunting season which opens November 15. During these designated periods deer and geese may be hunted in their respective seasons, Mitchell pointed out, but no other wildlife may be hunted. Reason for this, Mitchell said, is to help conservation officers eliminate pre-season rabbit, quail, squirrel, and grouse hunting. These legal seasons all open on the third Thursday in November which is the 18th this year.

The no hunting ban is a continuation of a policy set up several years ago. By outlawing hunting for all species except those designated, the law enforcement officer has a good case when a person is apprehended in the fields or on the streams with a hunting rifle or shotgun in his possession. Prior to the invoking of this regulation, illegal hunters had posed as crow or grouse hunters in the few days before the legal season opening and unless they actually had game in their possession, they could make their pleas stick in the courts. This eliminates the loophole, Mitchell said, in alerting hunters to stay out of the fields on the first 17 days of November.

cation will have no political implications whatever."

Combs, now practicing law in Louisville, said he understood that the "governor wants the ceremony to be completely non-partisan and on that basis, I will be happy to attend."

"The governor knows that I am a Democrat and I am supporting the Democratic ticket and that is why the ceremony has been scheduled for a time after the November election."

Wildlife Collector Prints By Gene Gray

Wildlife art has become one of the most demanded and desired types of art today, both in the home and public institutions. It not only adds beauty to the most tasteful decor, but also performs a valuable service by calling attention to some of the wonders of nature that are in constant danger of becoming extinct.

Just as wildlife art has become prominent, so has one of its artists. Gene Gray, a young man who is rapidly becoming recognized as one of America's finest artists for his detail and selection of composition. His animal subjects look so vivid and realistic, that the viewer is tempted to touch in order to satisfy his curiosity.

Professional people and financial institutions regard the collecting of limited editions of outstanding reproductions of original works of art as a good investment. As the demand exceeds the supply, the prices increase rapidly. In the Gene Gray limited collector's prints we are now offering, you have a rare opportunity to obtain some of these outstanding reproductions of his work. In the prints that come to you, Mr. Gray has personally autographed and has inspected each print to insure that each is a faithful reproduction of the original.

We invite you to join with us in this new and exciting art venture and sincerely want you to become a part of the Gene Gray art story. We hope you become one of the select American homes, businesses, or public institutions proudly displaying Gene Gray Wildlife Collector Prints.

Just released and for sale in West Liberty is artist Gene Gray's "Cougar", the latest of his Wildlife Collector Prints. Mr. Gray will be in West Liberty to personally meet you in Charleen's Studio Wednesday, Nov. 17, from 4 to 6 p.m.

Oct. 30 — Glad they are now making the change on the Caney Hill Road on Route 1000 from Caney to White Oak at Route 460. The hill has been dangerous when snows are on and the curves are dangerous any time. Hope it will be ready by winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Gullett of Willard, Ohio were in West Liberty to attend the Sorghum Festival on Saturday. Their four daughters, Vickie, Beckey, Patty, and Brenda and Mrs. Buford Gullett of Lynn, were with them. They spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gullett of this place. Nolan and three daughters came up to see us as I was his teacher at Holliday School when he lived here with his parents, Bill and Myrtle Gullett. He said he went to Willard in the year 1946 and has lived there since. He owns his home and very proud of his church which they attend. Earl Gullett came up with them to see us.

Pearlie Price of White Oak who works for the nursery at Woodbend was in this section last week buying wal- nuts for the nursery; stopped and we had a chat, walnuts were plentiful in this section this year.

Wm. Lloyd Koss and family of Reading, Ohio, came in Saturday to visit Roy Ross and family of Insko. They ate dinner here on Sunday and went back home by Maysville, Ky., we were glad to have them. Their daughters Sue and Janice ages 14 and 15 are attending school at Reading. Their stay was much too short but due to work and school that is the way it is.

My wife Myrtle and I went to Walter Hopkins who lives near Trace Fork where I taught school some years ago. He has built a new residence and they seem to be progressing very well. We went to get some sweet-potatoes and enjoyed our stay very much. The road is much better than when I drove to teach school.

I have been informed that Mrs. Pearl Oney and her sister Alma Oney were visiting relatives in this section last week. They came in with Cortis Lykins who works at Dayton but owns a farm here.

LOGVILLE

By Ruby Elam

Oct. 26 — First of all, I want to say that I consider the Sorghum Festival held last week- end, one of the most successful events that Morgan County has had. It gave the farm families a chance to sell their produce that would not have sold other- wise. They now know what to raise for next year's Festival. This in mind, more families will strive for better crops.

It gave people a chance to sell their antiques and many surplus items, not needed at home.

Folks learned that Morgan County women are talented and are praised for their untiring labors.

It brought many dollars to town and country people in ex- change for foods and collector's items bought by outsiders.

Last, but not least, it was two days of pleasure in greeting old friends and making new ones. Let's make the festival for 1972 bigger and better.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kennard were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Conley and fam- ily and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Avie and family, the Arlie Packs and Colina McGraw of Germantown, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Paulie Keeton and Mr. and Mrs. Alonza Hutchinson and Jerry Ferguson of Relief.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Elam and granddaughter, Sandy, of Lexington were here for the Sorghum Festival and spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Elam. Other guests of the Elams on Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Willie Fyffe of West Liberty, Orville Dallas Beulhimer of Dugus, the Paul Brown family, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Howard and son, Mr. and Mrs. Wick Kennard, the Jimmy Elams, the John David Elams, Mrs. Joe Phillips and children, and the George Robert Elam family.

Billy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Montgomery, was squirrel hunting and while looking up, a hickory nut fell in his eye and cut the eye ball causing a lot of bleeding. He was taken to a doctor. Then on Saturday he was taken by ambulance to a doctor in Lexington for fur- ther treatment. We wish a quick recovery for this fine young boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Gullett, Mrs. Ruie Nickell, accompanied by Ruby Wills of Middletown, Ohio went Saturday night to Whitesville to see their aunt, Edna Walker, who is critically ill with cancer.

ODDS AND ENDS

By Earl Kinner, Jr.

Blackberries in October — Oct. 31 at that. That was the day these ripe blackberries were found on Contrary Fork of Lacy Creek by Ruie Williams, Gay McClure and children, Donna and Jimmy, and Ina Easterling. They were out for a hike to Mrs. Easterling's old home on Contrary Fork and to enjoy the beautiful fall day. Farmers are complaining that the late summer-like weather is hindering corn picking and damaging the corn crop. Mrs. Carrie Shaver of Pomp was in the office this week and forecast a mild winter. Mrs. Shaver said she can remember two other late falls like the one we're having this year and said that both were followed by mild winters.

The young man above is Richard Lacy, son of Mrs. Georgia Lacy of War Creek. The tomato is one of several large ones he grew this summer. It weighed 2 pounds. He said he grew one that weighed 3½ pounds. Young Lacy, a freshman at Morgan County High, is a pretty glib fellow. In fact, before we quite knew what had happened he had traded his tomato to us for an ad in the paper. Richard wants to rent a half-acre of tobacco. Anybody interested in renting him their tobacco ground may call 743-4718.

This newspaper's coverage of the Sorghum Festival has elicited compliments from numerous persons. One Courier reader, Mrs. Louraine Hurley of West Liberty, made a scrapbook of the paper's coverage of the highly successful event. Mrs. Hurley was in to show us the scrapbook and pointed out that the story and pictures were so arranged in the newspaper pages that they could be clipped out intact (that is without part of the pictures and story being on the back side of a clipped section). Don't know how many extra copies of that edition we sold—a whole lot—and we've got several more copies on hand.

Courier printers remind us a whole lot this week like kids after Christmas with new toys. We spent the latter part of last week moving three new pieces of equipment into our printing plant and this week we're learning how to operate it. Hopefully, after we do, we'll be able to produce our three newspapers 'The Courier', 'The Wolfe County News', and 'The Elliott County News' quicker and more efficiently.

Many thanks to Earl Kimmelton who was in the office the other day to ask if we'd consider publishing the following paragraphs in the county paper. Yes we would and here they are—

THE PROPHET OF DUNE

Go placidly amid the noise and haste and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story.

Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexation to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain and bitter; for always there will be greater and lesser than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism. Be yourself. Especially do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is perennial as the grass.

Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself.

You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.

Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul.

With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Strive to be happy.

—Author unknown.

"Push here for easy open," it says big as life (on this cellophane box). So you push and find that it's "easy open"—so long as you push with a knife.

Easy open? Here's hope! Here of strife? Use knife!
